DHARZE

Dharze, closest translation "dorje" — a representation of the thunderbolt and the indestructible, diamond-like hardness of enlightenment. He possesses a unique atmospheric sound that emerges through his selection and carves a sonic signature that sets him apart from everything else. Drawing inspiration from his mountaineering life and winter isolation in the high peaks, his sound is coloured by seasons and a deep love for nature, forging a soundscape that blends music and mountains. His vision of this sound and the context it's supposed to be heard in has transformed venues into fiery dance floors. He has released five EPs that capture the same essence.

PRODUCTIONS: ĀKĀŚA - SONGS FROM THE MOUNTAINS

These 11 tracks showcase his ability to craft sounds that are unique, reflecting his South Asian heritage and inspired from the quiet bird scapes and thunderous storms of the Himalayas to the bustling street markets of Delhi, while bringing novelty into the genre of tech house which is stagnating with repetition. His productions are colourful, yet tailored for global appeal within the progressive and tech house genres.
